OW!! What an action-packed end of summer issue- full of fun, colour, happiness, celebrations and also new beginnings (Pastures New)...

Not only do we have two Bishops for the price of one (cover $(x^2 p^3)$) but also two Bards $(p^3 (x^2 p^2))$ who all feature in articles in this issue, with a distinct Cornish flavour! When Mike was a chorister in Truro Cathedral, he knew Bishop Hunkin, who features within the Golant Heritage Group article on our next page, and has many interesting anecdotes about him, which may appear in a future copy!

Two emails came to the Golant Pill address recently. The first was from Allison Worth, who is the Communities Support Assistant for the local Community Network Panel, wishing to advertise in local parish magazines (p13). The second was from Trevor Hunwicks, who has recently taken over responsibility for the Fowey Harbour Heritage Society's PR. As our Sue Reardon is presenting a talk to them in November on the discoveries about Golant by the Heritage Group, he asked if we could place their programme in our newsletter. As we are so closely linked by our lovely River, why not?! (p 11)

I make no apologies that once again, there are two personally observed Nature Notes from your Editor, along with further Animal Adjectives (below) which you may need to refer to when reading these (opposite). I clearly recall an English teacher who said it was good to try and learn a new word every day – I certainly knew only a few of these adjectives, but the unknown 'murine' & 'accipitrine' are now firmly lodged in my vocabulary...!

Now in our thirteenth year, we have, in every issue since the second one, kept the black & white Gleanings page. The reason we have four non-colour pages in every issue is because we have to stick to a strict format for the printer, who charges a different cost per page, depending on whether it is the more expensive colour or black & white. Thus we can limit and maintain our costs!

However, things change, and most of our personal news, such as Penny's birthday (p 10), and John Jenkin's presentation (p 12) is much enhanced by adding colour photos, especially as Robin, our ubiquitous Pill Paparazzi member, provides me with such great pictures - so such articles now tend to be scattered throughout the newsletter. I will endeavour to keep the Gleanings page, sometimes bolstered with Backalong Golant items, but it is becoming less filled. However, it's always good to receive shorter news items in this format, so please do send them to us for readers to share.

Murine Mystery!

Mike recently went out in our garden to pick sloes wearing these trusty old shoes kept in the porch, but when he returned and took them off, found this mouse (flattened but clean!), that had been acting as a cushioned insole!!

It's a mystery to him that he was completely unaware of this murine guest, which presumably was a present from our cat Tosca..!

Accipitrine Customer

I took this photo through our kitchen window. The visitor sat there on the bird seed container for about 15 minutes, awaiting a snack! Just as I turned away, he flew off, perhaps with a take-away meal in his talons...?!

Was this bird of prey a Sparrowhawk or a young Buzzard? I think it was the former.

During the summer, I received a fascinating email from Helen Powlesland, who now lives in Dorset, but has strong family connections with Cornwall. Amongst some old family papers, she had come across a cutting from the Times of a letter written by Cornish Bard Arthur Quiller-Couch (and dated August 22nd year unknown) regarding the historic significance of St Sampson's Church and its desperate need of restoration. The letter outlines the story of St Sampson and the church's earlier links with King Mark, Castledore and the love story of Tristan and Iseult. The final paragraph reads:

'The chapelry magnified by Beroul would in the sixth century have been a structure of wood. But in some form it continued until 1509 replaced by a parish church at the expense of St Katherine's and other guilds, whose benefactions a broken line of carvings under the wagon roof still commemorates. The beams of this roof have been eaten through by the beetle; the south wall bulges; the tower was so crazy that it had to be reinforced, releaded, and the bells taken down to be rehung after repair. This much has been done. But the whole fabric inside and out needs reconditioning, even to the Saint's Well by the porch — all this at an estimated cost of £,1500 of which £,400 has been collected. There is a promise of another £,100 from ecclesiastical funds. The population numbers but 270, is rural, and is therefore not affluent. Will any of your readers help to rescue this local habitation of a story which has so powerfully haunted the poetry and music of Europe? Donations may be sent either to Lady Poole, Torfrey, Golant, Cornwall; to Colonel the Revd H.P. Osborne, D.S.O. The Vicarage, Golant; or to St Sampsons's Church Restoration Fund, Lloyds Bank, Fowey.'

This sent a number of us into a flurry of research and speculation:

Revd Osborne began his ministry here in 1936. John Jenkin writes in his booklet An Historical Guide, In 1938 there was further need of repair. The entrance from the porch to the Holy Well was reopened at this time. The plaster was removed from the wagon roof of the north aisle and not replaced until 2003.'

An article in the Western Morning News, 8th June 1938, headed 'EXAMPLE TO THE COUNTY' and subtitled 'Bishop Praises Golant Pluck,' describes how the then Bishop of Truro (Dr J W Hunkin) praises a fundraising fete at Torfrey House, given by Lady Poole in aid of the ongoing restoration. Bishop Hunkin said: Not only Churchpeople, but all who have any regard for history and art, are concerned for the preservation of this beautiful little sanctuary. It has been in great peril. Your vicar very kindly sent me a most alarming photograph of the great gaping wound in the wall of the church that filled me with alarm'. This suggests that Quiller-Couch's letter may have been written in August of that year. All very intriguing!

The full letter and the article from the WMN will eventually be available to read on our FB page and Online Archive, which leads me smoothly on to our autumn talk, to be presented by Sue Reardon, with Ian Laughton, entitled:

'Piecing Together the Past' - November 8th, 7.30pm in the Village Hall.

The talk will trace Golant's history from very early times to the nearly present day, looking at some of the less well known points from our past. Separating fact from fiction and ruling out misinterpretation can be both rewarding and frustrating in equal measure when building up as accurate a picture as possible of what the village and Parish was like years ago.

To illustrate aspects of this talk about our history we are launching our Group's website and Online Archive. Golant Heritage Group holds an ever growing digital archive of photos, facts, videos and voice recordings. However, it became clear to us, sometime ago, that although we have a great resource sitting in filing cabinets, it requires an appointment to view the material. This does not make best use of our valuable village information. So we have been busy digitising all our material, and the website will soon be up and ready to use. Golant Online Archive provides powerful and easy-to-use searching of our photos, sound recordings and videos. The Online Archive allows users to comment on material to add to our knowledge and to contribute items that they may have. (At a later date we will hold a workshop to show the Online Archive in more detail and demonstrate how to use the archive.)

Golant Sports and Carnival

What a Plan!

It was obvious we couldn't put the marquee up because of the forecasted strong winds, but there was a chance we could hold Sports and probably Carnival on the Green if the rain held off. BUT where to hold the teas and sideshows?

The simple plan would be to revert to the Village Hall, but we are very reluctant to separate the events from the teas. So, Paul suggested using the Whell's cattle truck for the tearoom & then Sarah & Ian very kindly offered to empty their garage so that we could put the teas & cakes in there. Nick offered the pub marquee for the sideshows, & so a plan was born not really knowing if it would work. The resulting successful day shows what can be achieved with a few whacky ideas.

Many, many thanks to our tea ladies for even entertaining the idea of working in the garage, (they do have standards after all) and to Bridget & Martin for cleaning the cattle truck out and lending it to us. Thank you to everyone who made a cake – didn't we have a fantastic selection?

Thank you to Simon for running the Sports with such panache and keeping the children (and adults) in order and organised for the starts. (The main winners opposite).

We had a few showers in the afternoon but nothing to put off our keen competitors or audience.

The sideshows in the pub marquee worked out as well, with the addition of the rowing machine proving very popular. Many thanks to Fayre & Gail for running the tombola and to Fiona & Dave for manning 'Splat-the Rat', both of whom donated their takings to Carnival.

The rain also just about held off for Carnival, where we witnessed yet another great collection of fancy-dress competitors; they never cease to amaze. We were entertained by the Lostwithiel Town Band whilst judging took place, and many thanks to Louise & Ian and Geri & John for undertaking that very difficult task. (Winners opposite).

Thank you to the folk who gave some very generous prizes for the raffle and to The Fishermans Arms, Encounter Cornwall, Leyonne Farm and Tywardreath Butchers for their valuable vouchers, making the raffle a great success.

The Lostwithiel Town Band led the procession around the village, and the Flora Dance was very well received by the following dancers.

All in all, a very successful day, and thank you to everyone who turned up to support the event.

Auction Exceeded all Expectations

Wow– what an amazing, supportive and generous community we have here in Golant.

Our Auction of Promises, organised to raise muchneeded funds to redesign the village hall toilets, exceeded all expectations, raising around f,4,000.

It was a fun-filled evening in the Fisherman's marquee. Following a tasty BBQ cooked by Nick's team, accompanied by fresh mackerel caught that morning by our intrepid fishermen Paul & John and Mike Sherring, salads created by village hall committee members and strawberries & cream and chocolate slices, everyone got ready to treat themselves to some of the amazing promises on offer.

Auctioneer Martyn Hardy did a stellar job, and had his own unique way of running the evening. The prices reached by some of the lots were unbelievable. Of particular note was a batch of eight pasties which will be made by the village's young chef, Millie—they reached £105, more than £13 a pasty!

The highest achieving treat was two tickets to Lords, which made £500, and which were so generously donated by Charles & Lucy. Bids of £200 were reached for a boat trip for four with a night's stay at the Sawmills. Michelle generously donated two paintings which made £230

Of the men offering their services, a night under the stars with Jeremy was strongly contested making £150, while one lucky lady won the use of Witold for four hours for £105.

Chairman of the Village Hall Committee, Paul Meredith, said, "I would like to thank all of you for making this such a successful evening. The donations were fantastic, and everyone was so generous in their bidding. Our village hall team pulled together yet again, to run a memorable event for our community. Well done, all. Hopefully it won't be too long until we benefit from the new toilets."

Cornish Charms

- A few drops of nitre on a lump of sugar were used for curing bladder trouble.
- Rub butter on a bruise.
- Ointment for bruises was made from bruised mallow leaves mixed with lard, applied with the convex side of a tablespoon.
- To cure a sore throat, sleep with a stocking from the left leg around your throat.
- Bathe feet in mustard water for a cold and drink boiled cider, or whisky with hot water and sugar. Elder tea made from dried elder flowers or leaves was another cure, or drink the juice from turnip slices with sugar between.

Golant Summer Produce and Craft Show

This show was held on Saturday 17th August, and when on Friday 16th and early on that Saturday morning it was pouring with rain, we wondered if any of the flowers and vegetables would be fit for showing. It was a challenge!!

However, there were some good entries, and congratulations to all who made such an effort. The 'Old' weighing machine for weighing the 2 marrows caused as much attention as the produce themselves.

John Kift won the cup for the highest number of points overall, while special mention must be made of Maurie Parsons, who won the cup for his hydrangea in the 'Best in Flower and Vegetables', and then he won the 'Best Cookery' exhibit for his chutney!

The best 'Limerick' was won by Viviane Barr, and Isla Barton won the Children's cup.

The Great British Bake Off has obviously been an inspiration, as we had record number of entries in the cakes, with coffee and walnut being the most popular. It was good to see that a number of children had entered with their Gingerbread Men.

There were some lovely craft entries which covered needlecraft, and articles in wood, metal and leather. The artwork produced a variety of different mediums. The best 'Craft Exhibit' was won by Beth Whell for her painting of a Ballerina, whilst the Best Exhibit in Show was awarded to Ian Laughton for his photograph of Venice (below). The best New Entrant cup was awarded to April Stead for her beautiful quilt.

We are always open to suggestions and would welcome any ideas you may have. Already it has been suggested that we have a new separate section for 'Flower Arrangements'.

Special mention must be made of Anne McLeod, Janet Longman, Claire and Isla Barton who worked tirelessly on refreshments. Thank you to everyone who made us cakes. The Auction was as good as ever with Alastair Barr cajoling £135.40p from keen punters. Altogether, the show made a profit of £334.35p, which has been passed to the Village Hall Treasurer to help towards the refurbishment of the toilets.

Another Bocconoc Wedding

Despite dire weather warnings, 20th July could not have been a more beautiful day for the wedding of Josh Laughton to Prudence Wolfeld.

The Dorothy Garden provided a lovely setting, with the wedding arch decorated with apple boughs & hydrangea from Ian & Sarah's garden.

Family and friends came from all over the world, including the best man from Australia.

The couple drove to the house in Ian's green kit car, and the reception was held on the lawns, where there was the opportunity to try their hand at archery, while friends provided live music. After a delicious meal, there was dancing, and the day ended with a disco with Josh as DJ!

The party moved on to the beach at Talland Bay the next day, before Josh & Pru flew off to Sri Lanka & the Maldives for their honeymoon.

A perfect weekend.

GOLANT BOAT

Last of the Summer Wine weather?

I was enjoying some glorious weather up in the lakes recently, when I saw (or heard) a weather report suggesting that we shall not see the same sort of high temperatures again until next Summer!! And other reports also talk of the return of the 'Beast from the East!' (I did try and suggest who that Beast might be, but thought it highly inappropriate!). Anyway.... if any of these reports are even vaguely correct, then it is certainly time to stock up on logs and coal before the cold weather actually sets in!

Winter storage:

Most of us take our boats out for the winter and send off our outboards for annual maintenance. But some of you will keep your boat on an 'all year' mooring, so probably a good time to go and check your mooring tackle and even double up on mooring lines if in doubt. For those storing at home, then do take extra precautions to make the theft of your boat or trailer, or both, more difficult for the 'would be' thief. Engines are particularly vulnerable, as they are off the boat and probably stored in a shed or garage, so do take a photograph and record the serial number just in case the worst happens. Don't forget, the Police find it very difficult to return stolen engines, when they don't have an obvious 'owner!'

Annual General Meeting:

Just a reminder that our Annual General Meeting is coming up on Friday November 22nd in the Village Hall. Members (and that includes their partners) enjoy a free glass of wine and a hot pasty to sustain them through the evening, when this year we shall have a presentation by Kathy Ogg from the Coastguard organisation, as well as an annual report from Paul Thomas the Harbour Master. As in previous years, we are indebted to David Parry who has donated this wonderful original painting for us to raffle (to Golant Boatwatch members only) at the 2020 Spring Get together. So, what a great time to join Boatwatch! I hope to see you all there!

Golant Quay Users Association

The berthing allocations for this year were agreed at our September committee meeting, and the boat stickers for 2019/2020 will be posted out before the end of Septem-

The folk living on board their boats in the estuary appear, in the main, to be abiding by our request to them not to leave their dinghies on the main slip, blocking it off for other water-borne visitors. They are still taking up the few free car parking spaces and using the council refuse bins for their debris, and one of them behaved threateningly towards 87 year old Roger Tabb when Roger tried to remove a dinghy from his frape by the Bridge. Apparently the dinghy belonged to the live-aboard who knew he should not be on a Quay Users' frape, and he became quite abusive to Roger.

We have made some progress in addressing the boats in the Pill that are considered no longer sea-worthy, with one being sold and promises for another two to be removed. There is another that is seaworthy but in a bad state of repair, that is promised to be booked in with a local boat builder. The general view is that the berths are too cheap, and this does not provide an incentive to shift them. So, we are probably going to need to apply a penalty.

Investigations into pontoons, both inside and outside the Pill, continue, but with no firm proposals yet.

Madness in the Pill & Golant Raft Race (Another Silly Day in Golant)

Isn't it great when everything goes to plan. Madness this year seemed to be so well planned and organised that it went off without a hitch – but then perhaps a lot of the enjoyment is created by the mayhem and haphazard nature of the day!

5.30pm (ish) was set to be the possible start time but, of course, it is reliant upon the incoming tide which delayed matters until after 6pm. By the time it started we had seven teams ready to go. One team, viz. The Smurfs, was so large that it split into two for the Madness events. There were four different events for the teams to compete in. This year all the events were contested in kayaks kindly loaned by Encounter Cornwall. In a way I was sorry that kayaks were used because I missed the fun and ingenuity of the home made equipment that had been used in previous years but, at least, the kayaks make for a more even playing field.

The hotly contested events were a relay race, tug of war, blind kayaking (below) and a limbo race. After a lot of hilarity, and some intervention by the umpire (me), Madness in the Pill 2019 was won by a team from the canoe club calling themselves Big Bertha. They were followed by Driftwood Punt and Smurfs 2.

Madness is traditionally followed by the Great Golant Raft Race and all eight teams took part with their own rafts. There was some ingenious use of various pieces of equipment to make some interesting designs. There were certificates this year for the best raft and for the best dressed team. I chatted with some unsuspecting visitors to the pub to act as judges for this and they awarded Noggin the Nog as best raft and Noah's Lark as best dressed team.

Congratulations to
to everyone's faces.
Overall, a great day

The race itself was an interesting affair with team sizes ranging from two to, I think, fourteen. I seem to remember that there used to be a limit of six on the size of teams in the raft race but there have been no complaints so all was allowed.

The race itself was won by Noggin the Nog (right) - a bunch of Vikings, and I noticed many ladies retreating as the winners came ashore, undoubtedly aware of the Vikings' penchant for rape and pillage! Second place were Deckchair followed by the Smurfs. These last two places were slightly controversial in that Deckchair had been 'nobbled' by a spectator who dived in to The Pill and waylaid them when they were in a good second place. Smurfs passed them while this was going on, but a Stewards Enquiry was held which reversed the positions.

The Junior Race was won by four youngsters in a team called Fixtow. (Below)

Congratulations to all who took part and brought a smile to everyone's faces.

Overall, a great day, and thanks to Peter Edwards and Steve Phillis for their work standing in the Pill and organising the teams. Also thanks to Karen and Fiona for acting as safety boats during the day. Thanks as well to Nick, Chris and Anne who, as well as working like Trojans behind the bar ran a very successful, and tasty, barbecue.

Our Special Coffee Morning

Balloons, bunting, laughter, smiling faces and the smell of coffee. What more could we have asked for!

It was The Golant Macmillan Coffee Morning. The trestle table was ladened with a wonderful array of mouth watering cakes and tasty savouries, all kindly donated by villagers. In fact, generosity was so great we had to put up another table!

Around 10.50am a trickle of people came in, but by 11.30am we were rushing around putting out more chairs, as so many people were arriving to be part of the event.

It was wonderful to see so many happy and relaxed people and to hear the clatter of cups and laughter. There was a real buzz in the village hall as people chatted over their coffee and cake, some meeting others for the first time.

We thank everybody who worked behind the scenes to get this event up and running so smoothly. Also, a huge thank you to villagers, friends and relatives who generously supported this very worthwhile cause by raising the magnificent sum of £514.33pence.

With good wishes and thanks from the Coffee Morning Team.

A happy team and chatty punters raising money to support a very worthy cause.

Golant's Surprise Royal Variety Performance (or Mum's the Word!)

On Saturday 31st August we celebrated Penny Parsons' 70th Birthday with what can only be described as a Royal Variety Performance for a true Que-(sh!) of Golant. It was a day that epitomised all that is great about Golant and celebrated all that is wonderful about the love and friendship that exists here.

For my brother and me it was a landmark birthday for our Mum and we of course wanted to mark the occasion with something special, but what transpired truly was spectacular beyond our imagination! As the ideas for the day came flooding in, we became more intrigued and excited about what was coming; keeping Mum in the dark became a tough task towards the end. The rehearsal the night before hinted at the madness that was about to descend, but when the day came... bonkers in all the best ways! A huge spread of treats, music, dancing, and such weird and wonderful skits that had everyone grinning from ear to ear, and most importantly, kept a joyous smile on our mothers' face throughout the day. That was something really special.

Penny has given so much to so many. Sam and I have been subject and witness to her fun, kind and generous spirit, and we were touched that so many came to celebrate with us in such a way that captured everything we love about the woman who raised us and the village we grew up in. To everyone who played even the smallest part in putting this special day together we are eternally grateful. Thank you for the music, the dancing, the amdram, the banjo!! Thank you to all that came along to celebrate with us. And finally, thank you to Penny, for giving us an excuse to have a party and for simply being you!

Golantians Tug-of-War Team

As we move into Autumn, we commend two talks to you, both of which are about discovery and where attendance at one could provide a basis for a better understanding, and the wish to follow the example of the other. The first is a County-wide endeavour, the second, which is very much about Golant, a fine example of what Cornwall's Archaeological Unit is seeking to inspire in communities across this wild and beautiful county. All we have to do is search for it much as the Golant Heritage Group has done, and is continuing to do, so successfully.

Tuesday, 8th October, Whitecross Village Hall 2.30pm

Talk: In the Sound of the Sea: Aspects of the archaeology of the coast from Mevagissey to Looe Cathy Parkes, Cornwall Archaeological Unit

This talk presents some of the sites revealed around St Austell Bay and the wilder cliffs running east to Looe. Activities vary from watching briefs, many at buildings in historic harbours, to wider surveys of estates and of the Fowey Estuary as a whole, and also ways of experiencing and enjoying the landscape, informed by the accumulation of archaeological results. In short, how everyone can help discover and record Cornwall's coastal heritage.

Saturday, 16th November, Fowey Parish Rooms 2.30pm

Talk: 'Some Insights into Golant's History'. Sue Reardon, Golant Heritage Group

The research done by Golant Heritage Group (GHG) has uncovered much that is interesting about Golant's past. This talk will throw light on what has been discovered so far, from the distant past to the near present, as well as looking at the ongoing work and future projects that the Group is planning. Past projects are as diverse as railways and apple orchards, these subjects having been marked by the publication of booklets 'Looking Back- Golant and the Railway' and 'The Apple Heritage of Golant'. ('Apple orchards' were the 'norm' for farms and many houses, large and small, but the find of the parts of an apple crusher suggest the cider was produced on a commercial, albeit perhaps local, scale. How local was 'local' one wonders?)

We look forward to welcoming you to these talks - all are welcome.

£6.00 on the door, Members half price. Light refreshments are provided.

Our annual Fowey Estuary Marine Day, held in conjunction with Cornwall Wildlife Trust on Fowey Town Quay on the Tuesday of Regatta week, was very successful, and hopefully introduced some youngsters to marine life. I seemed to spend most of the day making badges with a magic contraption supplied by CWT.

The Rockpool Ramble at Readymoney Beach on 1st September was also very well attended, and thanks must go to our many volunteers who make this type of event and our Marine Day possible.

Dave Groves from the Cornwall Mammal Group is giving us a talk on Wednesday 9th October at 7.30pm at the Mission for Seafarers, Fowey, with access from Caffa Mill by the Bodinnick Ferry slip.

On Sunday 13th October from 10.30am to 12.30pm we have a guided tour of C Toms & Son Boatyard at Polruan. Booking is essential to Terry on 01726 832026.

There will be another Rockpool Ramble on Sunday 27th October from 10.00am to 12.00noon (must be half-term) at Readymoney Beach.

Nature Notes

Possibly it's a sign of increasing age (!), but the summer has sped by, as has most of September! Although the weather for the first half of September was summer-like, around the middle of August you just begin to notice a very subtle changing of light and air in the mornings; that and the earlier evenings have an effect not just on us, but the wildlife too...

Our Swallow family who have been visiting for the last three years had two broods this year, and left pretty early; we saw swallows flying the other day—coming from further North, maybe?

The young Kingfishers seem to be out on the riverbanks—a slightly different colour – more green than the adult turquoise, and less shy, at least in the beginning! David had 12 sightings in one trip last Friday...

Everyone in the village has probably heard the Geese—they don't seem to migrate abroad, but gather from August to October and practise their flying skills – some 'squadrons' are more successful than others! They seem to fly towards Par Pond and the coast in the morning, returning to the river and the Lerryn/Penpol area in the evening.

Fieldfares seem to have returned, eating all the berries from the Viburnums and Dogwoods.

We have had a bumper year of wild fruit – damsons, sloes, blackberries, hawthorn & rowan berries – all picked and in the freezer for later!

A truly fruitful harvest!

We are also working with Cornwall Wildlife Trust and Tevi (Cornish for 'growth'), an initiative from Exeter University and Falmouth Environmental Dept to help small businesses develop environmental growth. They are hopefully going to help us with a detailed audit of our wildlife and habitats, helping us to develop a plan for the future that sustains the landscape and wildlife. This is alongside a number of other ideas we have to bring people into the landscape in a productive and positive way. If anyone has any ideas of courses, workshops and subjects that they would like to learn about, or could teach, please get in touch, as this is also an area we are exploring... lots more still to do and see in the winter months!

A SPECIAL PRESENTATION

John Jenkin sent this great piece of news to us: "At the Gorsedd ceremony in St Just recently, I was given a surprise illuminated certificate to mark my 80 years' association with Gorsedd Kernow. By chance, I am unique in that I was received into Gorsedd Kernow in 1939 as a Disciple, not a Bard. There were ten of us young people. Only two became Bards; I was one. The other died some years ago, so I am the sole survivor.

As the idea of Discipleship did not survive the war, and has never been revived, I am the only person alive or dead who has a longer membership; it will never be equalled. It was a wonderful surprise to be summoned to the platform for the presentation by the Grand Bard."

The colourful ceremony was held on the Green near the clock tower in the centre of St Just. The Cornish phrase for this Green is Plen an Gwarry (Playing Place).

THANK YOU

I feel THANK YOU is not a big enough word for the wonderful surprise party thrown for my 70th birthday recently. A month ago now, and I am still in wonder at the fabulous company, fabulous cakes, hilarious entertainment and wonderful weather, in the idyllic setting of the Fisherman's Arms terrace. And then, to top all that, to be presented with a new banjo, for which I understand many of you had chipped in, well it just took my breath completely away. Golant is a very special place full of very generous and special people and I feel blessed to live amongst you all!

Community Network Column

Our area: St Sampson, St Blazey, Fowey & Lostwithiel

We meet quarterly to cover subjects affecting our area. The Panel consists of representatives from Town & Parish Councils, Cornwall Councillors, Community Link Officer Tasha Davis and Communities Support Assistant Allison Worth. Members of the public are very welcome to attend.

Our last meeting covered the theme of Health and Wellbeing, with presentations on Adult Social Care and Climate Change. We also looked at Highways Schemes and Mobile Speed Activated Signs which were on the agenda of our Extra Ordinary Meeting on 9th September at 7pm in the Alexander Hall, St Blazey.

Our next meeting will be on 14th October 2019 at the Alexander Hall and we will cover Community Safety. Attending are Police, ASB team, Safer St Austell Team and a representative from OPCC.

Calendar of meetings:

27th Jan 2020 – Theme: tbc

27th April 2020 - Theme: How do we do business.

Annual AGM

20th July 2020 - Theme: Health and Wellbeing

12th Oct 2020 - Theme: Community Safety

The Network Area now has a Facebook page – St Blazey, Fowey and Lostwithiel Community Network and a Twitter account- @SBFL_CN

ST SAMPSON PARISH COUNCIL

Traditionally, the Council doesn't meet in August (unless there are planning matters to consider) so inevitably, the September meeting Agenda tends to be packed with business to transact! So, no opportunity for proroguing here!

Advance Warning of The Canoe Club Annual Race (20th October):

We have been asked if the village green area can be used to drop off and collect canoes on the day of their annual race. Obviously, this will generate a greater level of traffic on the day, but if previous years are anything to go by, then it is normally very well managed, and we have therefore given our approval.

Whilst on the topic of the village green... we have also been asked if temporary parking permits could be made available to the Fisherman's staff, for when the tide is fully across the road and parking in the village is therefore very limited. We know we have parking issues generally and equally appreciate the need to look after the staffing needs of the pub, so we have agreed to provide 2 permits on a temporary basis and see how it works.

Community Governance Review (PART 2):

I mentioned in the last issue of the Pill, the need to submit a response for our Parish. All of those Cornish parishes in our area that submitted a response (and some didn't?) are now available for viewing on the Cornwall Council website. And it is interesting to see what changes various Parishes are looking to secure. We opted for a 'no change' response to our boundary or name or council arrangements, whereas some are looking to amalgamate with others or to change boundary lines to make more logical sense. The second part of the scheme is now underway, and we are required to check (by October 4th) if any neighbouring parishes generate any conflict of interest with our own, and again we are asked to submit a response.

Devolution of Community Assets:

You may be aware that there is a general process underway, whereby the County Council are devolving assets to the local parishes. We are quite keen to complete this process, to give us the opportunity to gain the Toilet block and then be in a position to create a worthwhile building for the village. However, there are something like 70 projects to tackle across Cornwall, and sadly, we are somewhere near the bottom of the list. But with some back-room argument and strong support from our Cornwall Councillor (Andy Virr) we have recently been invited to 'review' the assets that CC (Cornwall Council) have on their books and go onto the next stage, which will be to examine the legal documents attached to the various 'Freeholds.' So, not there yet, but a hopeful sign of movement in the right direction. At some point we will need to seek ideas for the Toilet block, which at the moment could well become something like a Kayak store or similar, as they have done in Fowey (Bodinnick car park).

Cormorant Development:

Just so that you are aware.... we have argued with the 'applicant' from the very first Council meeting, that their view of the FREEHOLD area, for them to develop, is incorrect, in that they have presumed ownership of the footpath behind the hotel. We have sought and still await a response from Cornwall Council that this must be corrected, and ideally before any work commences. The Planning Officer has forwarded our concerns and arguments (and even our copy of the deeds of the hotel) to the CC legal department for review. We currently await their response.

Planning Application PA19/07567:

We received, considered and offered our support to the above application.

In order to keep in touch with all things local and County, please make sure you look up the minutes of each Council meeting on the Parish Council web site.

David Jenkinson, Chairman St Sampson Parish Council

Our Parish Clerk Sue Blaxley can be contacted on stsampsonpc@gmail.com for any further information or to raise issues of concern.

Community Networks: (See page 13)

Another example of the Council delivering 'localism' and 'devolution' is via the Community Network Panels. There are 19 across the area and they meet each quarter to discuss agenda items of mutual interest and concern. We are represented by our Cornwall Councillor (Andy Virr) and then one or two of us from this Parish Council also attend.

News from St Sampson's Church

Obviously the main news, which broke just as the previous edition of The Pill was being printed, is that the Reverend Philip de Grey-Warter has resigned as Vicar of Fowey and Priest in Charge of Golant. Philip's last service was on Sunday 29th September, when this inscribed silver coaster, together with the claret, was presented, and a full account appears on the front page of this edition. An appreciation of Philip's ministry at Golant and the reasons for his resignation appear below.

The August holiday for choir and bells both great and small is over, and all three activities are back and thriving. Well over 30 people either sing or ring in our church every week, and many do both, and most of these are from the village itself; and this at a time when many ringing towers struggle to find enough ringers, and many church choirs have folded.

As you read this, Harvest Festival will be about to happen, and once again all tinned and dried goods will be given to St Petroc's, a very worthy local charity that does great work for the homeless. Both choir items are most suitable for this festival with Now to the Lord Sing Praises getting the service off to a lively start, and then Above the Earth Moon Rises as the anthem, which stresses the vulnerability of our fragile world, and is sung to that lovely tune Down by the Salley Gardens.

We were indeed fortunate to have the Bishop of Truro join us on Sunday 29th September, and on Sunday 3rd November the Archdeacon of Bodmin, the Venerable Audrey Elkington, will preside at the service of Holy Communion.

The following Sunday, 10th November, is Remembrance Sunday; this begins as usual at 10.50am at the War Memorial, and the Act of Remembrance will be followed by a service of Holy Communion taken by the Reverend Prebendary James Funnell.

Sunday 1st December will be the service of Advent Carols at 6.30pm, with plenty of well known carols for the congregation to sing, and A Cornish Christmas will be at 4.30pm on Sunday 15th December. Wednesday 18th will see the Handbell Ringers playing yet more carols at The Fisherman's Arms, and then the Festival of Nine Lessons & Carols on Christmas Eve, and suddenly we are celebrating Christmas again! Please do come and join us for any or all of the above!

The Reverend Philip de Grey-Warter

As the front page will tell you, Sunday 29th September was Philip's last service as Priest in Charge of St Sampson. Philip was appointed in 2002, and although his evangelical approach has always been slightly at odds with the more middle of the road Anglicanism of Golant, he and the parish have rubbed along pretty well. He has encouraged the choir and bell-ringers (and on occasions has joined the ringing team), and been both supportive and innovative in over-seeing the finances. He seems to have enjoyed living here, with sailing and shooting providing him with the necessary relaxation from parish affairs.

Philip's ministry has always been centred on preaching, and in particular that the Bible is God's word and is unalterable. Thus we always found it odd that he insisted on preaching at the Festival of Nine Lessons and Carols, rather than letting the words of the Bible speak for themselves – but he could not let pass the opportunity to preach to the largest congregation of the year. Although Philip was quite open about the fact that his ministry was to preach, and that visiting the sick and the lonely was not his priority, he did nevertheless bring considerable comfort to some who were dying or bereaved, but it is to be regretted that he was seldom seen in the village.

Recently, the House of Bishops suggested that a form of the Baptismal service could be used to welcome transgender people back into the church. Although there is nothing mandatory about this, Philip feels that he cannot stay within the Church of England as he sees this as denying the very heart of the Christian message.

He has chosen, however, not to move away from Fowey, but to start a new church under the auspices of GAFCON (The Global Anglican Futures Conference), so that he will continue to be a licensed Anglican clergyman but not within the Church of England. This move splits the worshippers in Fowey asunder, and perhaps a fresh start elsewhere would have been, in the eyes of many people, a more acceptable solution. For Philip, it means that many of his followers will provide the core for his new church, and that he can continue to enjoy living here.

We realise that our largely static and ageing population does not give the scope for growth that the evangelical movement aspires to, and his dissatisfaction with the Church of England has been increasingly evident. While we respect Philip's views, the majority of the worshippers at St Sampson appreciate the way the Church of England has maintained a broad inclusiveness, believing that God loves all humanity, warts and all.

We thank Philip sincerely for his seventeen years' service as our Priest in Charge, and we wish him well for the future.

UNCLE JOHN'S GARDEN PATCH

'Tis now you'm able to notice the daylight hours getting less, a sure sign summer's on the way out. And what a brave good summer t'ev bin! Alright, 'twas a bit slow and cold early on, but Mother Nature 'ev bin kind to us on the whole. We d'seem to 'ev a brave few gales that baint zackly what we d'want, and t'will pay to go around the garden and just make certain sure that everything that needs it is lashed up proper, because there's bound to be more on the way!

Jobs in hand now centre round getting the garden tidied up for winter. Harvest whatever be available either for eating now or putting in store for dreckly. This now the freezer comes in brave and handy for storing fruit and vegetables, and there's certain things that will survive the winter outside, which if frosted will taste better, as some of the starch be changed into sugar.

November month be the time to think about getting some seeds together and planting in seed trays in the greenhouse. The likes of onions, broad bean Aquadulæ or Bunyards Exhibition and early peas such as Meteor. For those who like their Sweet Peas, get a few in now in seed trays, so that come the better weather you'm right on and ahead of the game. Doan't ee forget they daffodil and tulip bulbs, whether 'tis for planting in pots or in the garden; get them in now, and if'n you've bin clever and put in a marker when they flowers was out in the spring, then you d'knaw zackly where they bulbs need to go, and 'twill save you from planting bulbs on top of bulbs.

Reduce they roses by about one third, cutting back to an out-facing bud to stop them being blawn about, and causing some rot setting in down on the main stem. Be sure to clear any fallen leaves from off the lawn. If'n they'm left there, then you'm going to end up with bare patches on the lawn, and 'tis only another job you'm faced with dreckly to re-seed these bare patches.

For any of you who 'ev got the likes of dahlias that are frost tender, 'tis a good idea to lift them out of the ground, clean the soil off them and store them in the greenhouse, where Jack Frost baint able to get to them. Any geraniums, fuchsias and other plants that 'ev put up a brave show over the summer can be taken in under cover and put in pots for next year. 'Tis just in case you'm unable to find these plants next yer in the plant centres, and then you'm also able to take cuttings and increase your stock.

Now I d'feel I must congratulate all they that entered in the Craft and Produce show back in August. It d'seem like an age ago, now but t'was a brave effort on everyone's part, and good to see some new faces. Some of the craft and cookery exhibits really were amazing!

Beth Whell made this wonderfully scrumptious cake for Penny Parsons' birthday celebration. Happily it also happens to be gluten free. In order for it to go around a large assembled company, she made two lots of cakes (double the ingredients here) to create a 4 layer tower topped with juicy blueberries.

COCONUT AND COURGETTE BIRTHDAY CAKE

(Serves 10)

200g/70zs Desiccated Coconut
3 medium Free Range Eggs
180g/60z Caster Sugar
250g/90z topped, tailed, peeled and very finely grated Courgette
1 tsp Vanilla Extract
120g/40z White Rice Flour or Gluten—Free Flour (more readily available)
2 tsp Baking Powder
1/2 tsp Bicarbonate of Soda
1/4 tsp Salt

For the filling
1/2 jar Raspberry Jam

For the icing

2 thsp Coconut Milk

100g/3½0z Icing Sugar, sieved

For the top

Blueberries, or a small handful of toasted Coconut Shavings

- 1. Preheat oven to 160° C/325° F/Gas Mark 3. Lightly brush two 18cm x 5cm loose-bottomed tins with vegetable oil. Line the base and sides with baking parchment and grease again all over.
- 2. Blitz the desiccated coconut in food processor for 2 minutes until very fine. Set aside on a plate.
- 3. Whisk the eggs and sugar till pale and fluffy (4 minutes full blast). Beat in the grated courgette and vanilla extract.
- 4. Finally add the coconut, flour, baking powder, bicarbonate of soda and salt. Beat to combine. Pour the mixture evenly into the two tins and place them in the middle of the oven for 45 minutes.
- 5. Remove cakes from the oven and unmould them. Cool them on wire rack for 15 minutes.
- 6. To make the icing, pour the coconut milk into the icing sugar and combine into a loose paste. Crush out any lumps with the back of a spoon. Place cling film directly onto the icing to avoid it forming a skin whilst the cakes are cooling.
- 7. When the cake has cooled, spread jam over one cake and sandwich the two together. Pour the icing over so that it covers the top and drips lazily down the sides. Decorate with blueberries, or sprinkle with coconut shavings.
